Admiral Lan Invited To Tientsin To Help Make Slate

CHANG TSO-LIN'S PLAN Has Scheme For Financing Peking Government via $30,000,000 Loan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, May 2.—The situation in Tientsin is apparently becoming calm and the discussions are now centering on the selection of candidates to fill the impending vacancies in the Cabinet. President Hsu is urging the Premier to return to Peking.

The conference has invited Admiral Lan Chin-shou, the Commander-in-Chief at Shanghai, to proceed to Tientsin and it is understood that Admiral Lan Chin-shou has asked Admirals Tu Hsi-kuei and Chiang Cheng to accompany him northwards. The chief point in the naval situation appears to be the attitude of Admiral Tang Ting-kuang, which is uncertain.

Peking, May 2.—A message from Changsha states that the Military Governor of Hunan, Chao Heng-ti, has taken over the civil governorship concurrently with his present position.

Peking, May 2.—The efforts of the Chita representatives to secure China's recognition of the Far Eastern Republic are not meeting with success and their representations remain unavailing.

Peking, May 1.—On Friday last the Tientsin negotiations suddenly became acrimonious. Interest had been centering on the projected expeditions against Dr. Sun Yet-sen and against Unga and the principle was adopted that Tsoo-kun should arrange the former and Chang Tso-lin the latter, but the question of finance appeared insurmountable. Then the Minister of Finance, Chow Tzu-chi, definitely announced his intention of retreating forthwith, whereupon the Premier put forward Tse-tse, the civil governor of Chihli, to succeed Chow Tzu-chi, but Chang Tso-lin and Wang Chan-yun raised objections. The discussions then became heated, Chang Tso-lin and the Premier both talking of leaving the conference.

COOLER HEADS PREVAIL
Calm counsel prevailed yesterday afternoon but the atmosphere is still electric. It appears that while the question of disbandment was discussed on one hand, expeditions calling for large funds which are not available were contemplated on the other. The appointment of a new Minister of Finance will not alter the financial position and it remains to be seen whether the present ruling group will abandon its financially impossible schemes or wind up the conference.

Meanwhile, what is true today may be untrue tomorrow and the only rest probability is the compromise which averted the disruption of the conference on Thursday.

(China Press Correspondent)
Peking, April 30.—It is learned from the Tientsin Conference that Chang Tso-lin's primary object in attending the Tientsin meeting at Tientsin was that of inducing the Government to raise sufficient funds for military and other expenses or, failing that, to lay before the Government and the Tientsin his own scheme for financing the immediate requirements of Peking and the military satrapies that support it.

Chang Tso-lin has for some time past been dissatisfied with the way financial affairs have been going in Peking and has been forming his own plans with regard to finance. These plans involve, it is stated, the floating of a $30,000,000 loan the amount of which Chang Tso-lin believes is at present required for military and administrative purposes the loan bonds to be taken up by Japanese bankers on the security of a Manchurian and Mongolian development scheme. Chang submitted this proposal to one of the sessions of the Tientsin Conference, where it was temporarily shelved because of Premier Chin's claim that the present Government should be given a chance to carry on, with some slight changes, and also because of China's assurance that under these circumstances the Government would attempt to find more effective means of raising the funds required.

CHIN TO REMAIN
It has therefore been practically settled that Premier Chin's Cabinet will remain in office provided the disbandment policy of his Government meets with some favor from the Super-Tientsins. The present Minister

J.O.P. BLAND, IN NEW BOOK, URGES HELP FOR CHINA

"International Tutelage" Advocated Pending Establishment Of Despotism

(Reuter's Service)
London, April 30.—A new book by Mr. J. O. P. Bland, entitled "China, Japan and Korea," has just been published. The author takes a pessimistic view of the situation in China, and advocates that country should be brought under international tutelage, while preserving her sovereignty and dignity by maintaining all the outward signs of independent authority. Government and finance should be centralized, and ultimately a Government should be established upon the traditional principles of a paternal despotism.

Pending these changes, Mr. Bland believes that an agreement among the Powers for the reorganization of China's finances and the reconstruction of her central Government upon a new basis of effective authority is not impossible. The success of such an agreement would depend mainly upon the attitude of Japan, and would involve the revision of the whole situation in the Far East.

This revision, the author maintains, should entail not only the settlement of the Shantung question, with full recognition of China's unimpaired sovereignty throughout that Province, but also the abolition of all special interests in China which infringe or diminish that sovereignty. The recognition of Japan's privileged position in Manchuria and Mongolia should be balanced by her consent to a new square deal all round.

Mr. Bland is of opinion that it is possible Japan will agree to such a revision, and he declares that the aggressive policy of Japan must come to an end if there is to be any renewal of the Anglo-Japanese alliance and any hope of peace in the Orient.

Dail Eireann Calls Act Of 1920 Illegal

(Reuter's Service)
London, April 30.—Dail Eireann (the Irish Republican Parliament) has issued a proclamation, declaring the Government of Ireland Act of 1920 to be illegal. It orders the members of County Councils and other public bodies to ostracize the elections for the proposed Irish Senate, but, on the other hand, it countenances the popular elections under the Act.

Senate To Act On New Tariff Bill

Washington, April 30.—The emergency tariff bill, which is designed for the relief of the farmers and to check the importation of foreign goods, has been ordered to be favorably reported on by the Finance Committee of the Senate.

LABOR DAY QUIET, BUT POLICE HERE ARE ALERT

Extra Men Stationed In Chinese Territory To Keep Watch

DANGER AHEAD

Three Other "Big Days" To Be Passed Before May Tenth

Despite the elaborate precautions taken by the local military authorities, no signs of disturbance were evident on Labor Day. It passed without demonstrations. Nantao and Chapel assumed the aspects of an armed camp on Sunday, however; and it is ordered by the authorities that the martial display shall continue for ten days.

Although martial law has not been formally declared all pedestrians who pass into Chinese territory after 10 o'clock at night will be questioned by the military police. They are also subject to search for inflammatory literature.

Extra police are stationed at all important points. The district between Lunghua and Ji Hui Bridge is guarded by troops of the 39th brigade. At all the bridges across the Sze-chuan Creek, soldiers of the first brigade are posted. The district surrounding the Kiangnan Arsenal is assigned to the second brigade.

The police as well as the soldiers are allowed to interfere and disperse any demonstrations or parades.

The reason why the order should be prolonged to ten days is attributed to the fact that three other demonstrations are expected during this period. May 4 is the memorable day of the students' strike. May 7 was the day when Japan addressed the 21 demands to Peking, while May 9 is the national humiliation day on which Yuan Shih-kai accepted Japan's 21 demands.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Osaka, May 2.—Five thousand workers paraded the streets yesterday, but no serious disturbances occurred.

Tokyo, May 1.—The May Day celebration here ended in the arrest of the blind Russian poet, Eroshenko, several leaders of labor societies and two girls.

There were several clashes with the police, and the heads of many of the demonstrators were broken.

The labor agitator, Shibaura, urged that the "intellectuals" be done away with.

Twenty thousand participated in the demonstration.

The precautions taken by the police prevented an expected clash between the rival labor factions.

The city electrical employees are now negotiating with the owners and a strike is therefore considered unlikely.

RAIL LEADER IN ENGLAND SEES WAR IF STRIKE LASTS

Railwaymen's Secretary Takes Gloomy View Of Coal Outlook

RATIONING PLANS

Government Will Revert To War Time Measures To Save Supply

(Reuter's Service)
London, May 2.—The coal situation has not changed during the week-end. A number of district associations have shown up uncompromisingly as regards acceptance of the Government's offer. Fuller meetings have not yet been held.

It is widely pointed out that this is the first great occasion when the miners have been refused an opportunity of expressing their opinion by ballot. The miners' delegates appear adamant in their determination that a ballot shall not be taken. Nevertheless there is no ray of hope of the miners deserting their Federation, and whence and how will come a new healing move to bring the parties together seems most obscure and remote.

A long strike sums up the general feeling, with possibilities of appalling complications and happenings ever lurking in the background.

Mr. C. T. Cramp, the railwaymen's secretary, speaking at Leeds, declared: "Unless things alter, I candidly think we shall drift into a state of war within a fortnight."

London, May 1.—The Cabinet committee on supply and transport met yesterday to consider measures for conserving fuel and light, and the possible imposition of the curfew through the cutting off of the gas and electricity supplies at a certain hour of evening.

The Government, it is announced, is unwilling to submit industry to further loss. Hence it is taking a census of existing stocks of coal before deciding on further drastic steps affecting travel and the ordinary amenities of life, which the continuance of the coal stoppage will necessitate. The withdrawal of all express trains, the closing of theaters, and the establishment of central bakeries in towns are among the measures which have been discussed.

APPEAL TO DISTRICTS

The Miners' Federation have appealed to the districts as regards the rejection of the owners' and Government's terms, with the result that the Lancashire and Cheshire Federation, the Nottingham miners and those of the Forest of Dean coalfields have endorsed the rejection.

The Government is circulating posters very widely in the mining areas explaining the proposed terms of settlement, but the men's leaders are emphatic in declaring that all attempts to induce the men to break away from the Federation are doomed to failure.

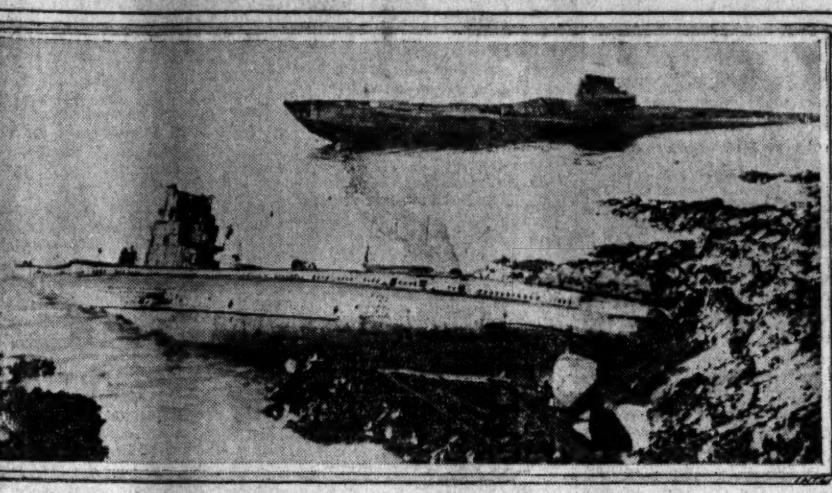

Meanwhile the effect on trade of the continuance of the strike grows more serious day by day, and fresh industries are continually being added to the list of those closed down. The most notable recent example has been the throwing idle of 13 steelworks and 17 blast furnaces in Lanarkshire, whereby 70,000 men have lost their employment.

The break between owners and men is now absolutely complete, and the Government is of opinion that the next move must come from the miners. Hence it appears that the further prolongation of the struggle is inevitable. Those who know the miner insist that he is capable of almost incredible suffering, and will stoically endure it before yielding. Labor circles are confident that the miners can hold out until the beginning of June, and will do so, failing concession to their demands.

Shanghai's Street Names Of Odd And Varied Origin; Sam Lloyd Numbered Them

BY ELSIE MCCORMICK
Naming streets presents some of the same problems as the naming of crib occupants under one year of age. Parents are as likely as not to pin a Gwendolyn label on somebody who later takes to tortoise-shell rimmed glasses and flat-heeled shoes or to call somebody else Violet who afterwards constitutes an unshrinking part of the frontline scenery in the chorus and who applies her blushes by hand. Or else the family might name a little heir after Uncle Siskinack-Rhodes who works in a bank without any previous whitewash of the fact that he is in the future Uncle's companion with notes will be limited to the convict choir.

Naming children is in general such a risky business that one is inclined to applaud the Korean plan of numbering the girls according to the order of their appearance, or the American Indian practice of waiting until a person grows up and then naming him after some twist in his facial architecture or disposition. Under such circumstances, Violet of the chorus would probably become Little Paint-in-the-Face and the world would be saved from another misnomer.

Naming streets is equally hazardous. The hero of today may become the orphan step-child of tomorrow. Italians who, in a burst of Latin enthusiasm, named about half their streets after Woodrow Wilson had a busy time climbing stop ladders with buckets of black paint after Mr. Wilson's recommendations on the subject of Plume. Also, streets, like children, have a way of growing up without any regard to previous plans and specifications. There is more than one Rose Terrace in a stock-yards district.

Some of the pioneers who first christened Shanghai's streets with a sprinkling-cart made similar errors. Who would have thought, when Range Road was named, that the rim of population would push the Rice Paddies far beyond the villages among which it was originally established? Or that Route de Say Zong would outgrow the social status of the Say Zong stables? Though Shanghai has no streets labelled as digits, there is a certain amount of system in the Central District. Streets running east and west are named after important Chinese cities; those running north and south bear the names of China's provinces. But beyond this somewhat limited area, the streets commemorate leaders of the late war, Shanghai pioneers, famous missionaries, institutions, Chinese estates, and a motley assortment of flowers, egg-merchants, and colorless foreign individuals whose good and evil both were interred with their bones.

The occasion of renaming some of the streets is undoubtedly remembered by those who were in Shanghai during the Great War. No Sherlock Holmes is required to trace the genealogy of Avenue Joffre, Avenue Foch, Avenue Haig, and Avenue Du Roi Albert. Rue Bourgeois bears the name of a young French attorney who was the first citizen of Shanghai to give his life in the trenches.

Even in a city when the population changes as rapidly as the styles there must be many who recall the tragic circumstances that led eventually to the naming of the Route Vallon. Just ten years ago the first French aviator to visit Shanghai was circling over the Race Course during the Spring meeting when the machine suddenly reeled in mid-air and crashed to splinters before the grandstand, instantly killing the young aviator. A monument was erected in his memory in French Park and Route Vallon was given its present name.

Yu Yuen Road, literally translated, means "Foolish Garden," so named because of the extravagant waste of money on the part of a Chinese in building an elaborate garden in the neighborhood. Yuen Ming Yuen Road was christened for in honor of a famous palace destroyed in Peking during the Boxer uprising. Wong Ka Shaw Gardens was once the site of a rich villa belonging to the Wong family. Yuenfong Road bears the prosaic name of a rich egg merchant. The characters in

FRENCH ARMY MOBILISES; ALLIES PLAN FINAL NOTE

Present Intention Is To Allow Germans 7 Days Of Grace

PARIS IMPATIENT

Knox Peace Resolution Passes U.S. Senate By 49 To 23

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 2.—Despite the fact that hitherto unanimity is incomplete among the members of the Supreme Council as to the methods to be adopted, the discussions have been marked by a lot of friendly banter. For example, at one point Mr. Lloyd George told M. Briand that he was a master at finessing, whereat the French Premier retorted: "Mon cher Lloyd George, it only shows that I have been much in your company."

The French mobilisation will begin tomorrow, and M. Briand declares, if within eight days—namely the time necessary for Germany to reply to Mr. Lloyd George's fresh ultimatum and for the completion of the French preparations—the Germans produce fresh proposals, they will be considered but Germany must accept unreservedly both the figures and methods of payment as settled by the Reparations Commission.

Even then, added M. Briand, the German proposals would be considered only if guaranteed by securities that would give satisfaction to Germany's creditors, namely Allied supervision of the German debt and customs percentage on German industrial exploitation.

M. Briand concluded by saying: "I have got my back to the wall and cannot act otherwise."

Meanwhile, it is understood that the French army will be absolutely ready to move within a fortnight.

BRIAND "STUPEFIED"

London, May 1.—M. Briand, interviewed by Reuter, expressed stupefaction and sadness at suggestions made by the British press that France was bellicose, which, he said, were absolutely untrue. He recalled France's patience and endurance since the Armistice as an example of her pacific desires.

London, May 1.—Subsequent to the Supreme Council's afternoon adjournment a meeting of the British Cabinet decided that the project of the Belgian Foreign Minister, M. Jaspar, be put into draft form.

A drafting Committee, consisting of the British Foreign Minister, Earl Curzon; the French Premier, M. Briand; the Italian Foreign Minister, Count Storace; the Belgian Foreign Minister, M. Jaspar; and the Japanese Ambassador at London, Baron Hayashi, thereupon met and sat for an hour and a half, adjourning till tomorrow morning.

London, May 1.—The opinion of Allied diplomatic circles is trending in favor of, firstly, the preparation and presentation of terms to the Germans; secondly, immediate preparations for enforcement of the terms if Germany does not agree or does not provide guarantees; and, thirdly, immediate steps for the enforcement of the terms after the conclusion of an ultimatum allowing her a short period in which to do so.

It is suggested that Germany should pay £100,000,000 annually as well as a 25 percent tax on exports. The latter method, however, is criticised on the ground that British and other consumers would really be paying it.

It is declared that Berlin is determined not to yield to the demands. The temper of the Germans, it is said, is indicated in the press, which is emphasizing protests against "the lies about Germany's guilt," but it is believed that this may largely be bluff, preparatory to an eleven-hour capitulation.

It is stated that behind Mr. Lloyd George's insistence on an ultimatum there lies the hope that America may yet decide, to take a hand in settling a problem, which, it is felt, cannot be settled without her.

U.S. MAY CO-OPERATE

It was reported yesterday that the Government had heard unofficially from America that Washington was contemplating a return to full co-operation with the Allies, including membership

WILSON OFFERED TO MAKE HARVEY ENVOY TO LONDON

Editor's Admission Disperses Reports Of His Pro-Irish Attitude

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 2.—A farewell dinner tendered in New York to Colonel Harvey the new Ambassador to Great Britain, an appointment which critics declared had been made on account of his anti-English feelings, revealed Colonel Harvey in an encouraging light.

He said that ex-President Wilson had offered him the post as Ambassador. That fact alone refutes the claims of these critics. Further, he said he was confident that President Harding's genius for co-operation, which had won him the hearts of his own people, was destined to draw the entire English-speaking race into an harmonious relationship, practically perfect both materially and spiritually.

Mr. J. E. Hedges, the well-known lawyer, humorously urged Colonel Harvey to go slow on "this hands across the sea business" because, he said, it had been overdone all round, since it was taken for granted that anyone trying to make trouble between America and England was our common enemy.

FOREIGN MAILS TO BE DELAYED ALL THIS MONTH

"Weighing And Counting" Regulation Imposed By Universal Postal Union

All mails passing through foreign post offices in Shanghai for the next month or more will be subjected to an additional delay because of the requirement of the Universal Postal Convention made at Madrid last fall which provides for the weighing and counting of mails all over the world, both incoming and outgoing.

The order became effective May 1 and is to be observed for 28 days. Mails dispatched to Shanghai between May first and 28th will be put through the weighing and counting check even should they arrive here months hence.

Besides the delay in the delivery of incoming mail due to weighing and counting, the new order will necessitate the earlier closing of outgoing consignment. "And after they are once closed for weighing and counting," one postmaster said yesterday, "they will not be reopened for the 'last minute' man who always arrives with 'just one more' letter for dispatch." When the weighing and counting totals have been compiled, there can be no alterations.

The object of the weighing and counting order is to give the nations of the world accurate statistics upon which to base interchange payments for international transportation of mails. The rates of payments for the next two years will be set from the count and weights taken this month.

Women Who Earn $25,000 Or More Yearly

No. 1 ANNE VAUGHN HYATT

Prominent Sculptress Who Earns More Than $25,000 A Year By Her Art

Anne Vaughn Hyatt has won unusual fame as a sculptress. Her Joan of Arc faces the Hudson River at Ninety-third street, New York City. Her works, "Winter" and "Tiger Hunting," are on exhibition in the Metropolitan Museum in New York. In 1917 she was appointed curator of sculpture of the French Museum of Art in the United States. She specializes in small bronze figures.

on the Reparations Commission. Hence, it seems that there are reasonable grounds for a desire not to prejudice any possibility of such a re-union by the French penalties, which might check any American impulse to resume an active part in European affairs.

Paris, May 1.—The newspapers utter a unanimous protest against sending another ultimatum to Germany. Ex-President Poincaré, writing in the Matin, contends that there has been enough talk, and that the Allies must now take guarantees, as the least hesitation will endanger the future.

Washington, April 30.—The Senate has, by 49 votes to 23, adopted the Knox Peace Resolution.

London, May 1.—The Supreme Council met this morning at 10 o'clock at Downing Street, but adjourned till afternoon, as the report of the financial experts was not ready.

At this afternoon's meeting the Belgian Foreign Minister, M. Jaspar, outlined a scheme with a view to reconciling the divergent views of the Allies, but a decision on the proposal was deferred, and the Council adjourned after sitting an hour.

When it resumes again, tomorrow morning, it will hear new proposals, which it is believed the Allied experts will support unanimously.

BRITISH FAVOR DELAY
Reuter learns that under M. Jaspar's plan France would be permitted to continue her preparations for the application of the sanctions in view of Germany's failures to carry out the Treaty, but British public opinion, favoring a brief period of grace, would also be satisfied.

Mr. Lloyd George did not reject M. Jaspar's proposals but was unwilling to answer definitely until he had consulted his Cabinet Ministers, who, he stated, would immediately meet.

London, April 30.—Prior to the meeting of the Supreme Council this afternoon, there were preliminary conversations between the Allied representatives in London, the chief topic being the British proposal that the Allies send a Note to Germany, giving her seven days in which to accept their demands. It is understood that the French insisted on immediate action.

Lord d'Abernon, the British Ambassador at Berlin, has not brought any fresh German proposals as was expected, but merely an explanation of the German Note, to the effect that the offer of 10,000,000,000 gold marks in annuities was alternative to the offer of 2,500,000,000 gold marks in cash. This has not made much impression.

Meanwhile, Berlin is ablaze with rumors, one of which, to the effect that Dr. von Simons had tendered his resignation, was confirmed today; but President Ebert has declined to accept it on the ground that the Cabinet favors the continuance of negotiations with America.

Congressman Mann Wants Larger Army
(Reuter's Service)
Washington, April 30.—Congressman Mann, speaking in the House of Representatives, contended that an army of 168,000, as provided for in the Appropriation Bill, was too small, and said he would later move an amendment, increasing the strength to 175,000, citing the fact that China and Japan have larger armies.

Speaking of the reduction made several months ago, he said he saw no indication that any other nation in the world was making efforts to follow in our footsteps. "We have grave international questions which the State Department is trying to solve," he continued. "No individual can foretell what is going to happen. I believe we can afford to be prepared for any possible emergency, and I think the American people will approve an increase in the enlisted force."

(U. S. Navy Radio through Reuter)
Washington, April 30.—After defeating all amendments designed to register a sentiment in favor of disarmament, the House of Representatives has passed the Naval Appropriation bill of $396,000,000, including $90,000,000 for continuing the construction of vessels. The bill will now go to the Senate.

Georgia Seeking Pact With China
(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, May 1.—Georgia has again approached the Chinese Government through Dr. Wellington Koo regarding the opening of commercial relations with China. So far the Chinese Government has given no hint of what attitude it is taking in the matter.

PLAGUE ON WANE
(Reuter's Pacific Service)
Peking, May 1.—The Peking Mukden Railway Bureau reports that there have been no further cases of plague along the railway line. The Chihli Anti-Plague Bureau has informed the Ministry of the Interior that the plague at Hsienhsien and Tacheng is dying down and that there have been very few deaths during the past few days.

The Waring Company

Let me be for once "The Witness For The Defence," if the Waring Company need any defence. They appeared before a critical audience last night at the Lyceum Theater. When the majority of the male part of the jury that composed the audience left the auditorium to chat over their impression upstairs, the greater part of them had anticipated their final verdict.

"The Waring Company is good," they said. Then came the second interval, and again an adjournment to the foyer and the further verdict that "The Waring Company is very good." With the fall of the final curtain the judge—let us call him on this occasion "The general public" asked "Ladies and gentlemen, what is your true verdict?" There was no need to wait for a foreman to answer. The answer was unanimous: "The Waring Company is to be placed in the first class—if there is a class that is better than this then place them in the honors division."

There cannot possibly be two opinions about the Waring Company. Every member of the cast is a polished actor or actress. The elocution is perfect. The deportment tells of metropolitan experience. "The Witness for the Defence" is a play that has proved its worth in London and elsewhere. It is more of a drama than a comedy. There is plenty of action about the play. The dialogue is crisp. The plot carries the interest from start to finish. But it is a play built upon one of A. E. W. Mason's books, and therefore it cannot be anything else but enthralling.

Now just a line or so about the players. Charles Quartraine played the part of "Henry Threask." I have already written of his value as a player. He has not been seen here before but the more local playgoers witness his fine portrayals the more they will be on his defence. He has a fine presence. His voice is as appealing as it is sympathetic. He knows his work from the letter "A" to the final hit in the alphabet.

Then there is another well known London actor in the cast and that is Mr. Frederick Annerley. Of course he is good. Last night he gave a portrayal of "Stephen Ballantyne." I have an idea that it is not his pet part. We shall see him to better advantage later. He was just a little too robust to be always audible as a "drunk" but he is an actor and we await developments with confidence.

Frank Vosper has the juvenile lead. He has a fine presence and a profile very like Owen Nares. He should be popular before the run of many pieces. Wordley Hulise is another player who has any amount of punch and his little character study of "Harold Hazelwood" was perfect. I liked the "Mr. and Mrs. Pettifer" of Christian Morrow and Miss Alys Rees.

Miss Jeanette Sherwin takes a place in the position that appears last in this column but her value is among the first in public opinion. "Stella" calls for an actress who can portray the many emotions that make up the "woman." The first big round of applause that was demanded from the house was given at Miss Sherwin's first exit.

She gripped from the start and her portrayal cannot be otherwise than highly praised. Miss Sherwin comes here with a big reputation. She merits it and before she leaves she will enhance it.

Tonight: "Mr. Pim Passes By." It is a Milne play. It is delightful.

Shanghai's Street Names Of Odd Origin

"Chaotung" simply means "prosperous." A famous traitor honors a genial citizen who procured a large number of English and French amateur dramatic efforts. He was a familiar figure in the wings always standing nervously with an unlighted cigarette in his mouth, until the final fall of the curtain settled the play's status as a success or otherwise. M. Pottier retired from active business some time ago, and is now enjoying a period of well-earned leisure in France with his wife. Mme. Pottier usually played the leading role in the French amateur productions.

Boone Road does not bear the name of Daniel Boone, famous for his squirrel-tail cap, and for his explorations in Kentucky where he discovered the Blue Grass and the Louisville Derby, but to Dr. Boone who was one of the first physicians in Shanghai. Like Broadway, it carries with it an echo of the time when part of Hongkong almost became the American Consulate.

The Fearon family, who have stamped their names voluminously over the history of the Far East, are also commemorated by one of the city streets. Mr. A. C. Fearon, according to "The History of Shanghai," arrived in the forties and filled the Chair of the Municipal Council in 1854 when the community was almost cloven in twain over the matter of expenditure. Times haven't changed so much after all! A Mrs. Fearon, also related to the family, appeared in Canton in 1830 where previously there had been practically no foreign women, and so frightened the Mandarins that they threatened to stop trade instantly unless the strange creature was deported.

The long struggles, fatigue, and bitterness that accompanied the early settlement of the port; the gallant conduct of missionaries who fought against a thousand adversities; gunboat arguments in the river; and all the tragedy and comedy that formed part of Shanghai's growing pains are all hinted at in the naming of the streets. Medhurst Road, Darroch Road, and Young Allen Terrace bear the names of missionaries who have written their names large in the chronicle of the Christian faith in China.

There is only one stone we would like to throw at the designers of Shanghai streets. It is our belief, chronology to the contrary notwithstanding, that Carter Road and a few sister streets were numbered by no less a person than Lloyd.

To find an address on one of them, all a person needs is a compass, a surveying outfit, and a surplus food-supply. Old statistics hint that young ladies on these streets marry off more slowly than those in other parts of town because their suitors can never find where they live. Dixwell Road, and the others of its ilk would make ideal residences for those who are trying to escape from the arm of the law or who are chased too hotly by creditors, but they are no places for people with sociable dispositions who are fond of callers.

Maid Of The Mountains

When a play finishes after midnight there is not time left to write much about it, but a very well-filled house indeed greeted the Bandman opening at the Olympic Theater.

Most of us know the delightful lilt of music of this piece, which ran for over two years in London, and the number "A Bachelor Gay" set the whole house humming. The plot is all about Brigands. Pretty Ladies, with a Low Comedy General thrown in, but Miss Dolara as Teresa, the Maid of the Mountains, carried the chief burden of the work and earned the great approval of the house.

Miss Dolara looked a most delightful Teresa and sang charmingly: "Love is my Life," "Love Will Find a Way," "If I Only Held the Key to Your Heart"—the whole thing was about Love, in fact, and with Miss Dolara fitting about it was not so difficult. Mr. Leyland Hodgson's Baldaire, the Brigand Chief, suffered from the clipping of his sentences rather. These parts are a little awkward and must be taken a little slower, it seemed to me.

The low comedy of Mr. Jack Oughton; particularly in the last act in conjunction with Miss Dolly Prince as Victoria caused plenty of fun, and they both worked hard. Mr. Jerry Verne's Crumple was clever, quiet, and neat, and the audience greatly appreciated his playing.

Mr. Dan Mansfield as General Malone worked a lot, but really the whole thing rested upon Miss Dolara's delightful Teresa. This was the first occasion in Shanghai, I believe, that three full companies have been performing at the same time, and Mr. Bandman must have been well pleased at his large audience, which in its turn was well pleased with his show. The dressing and setting were pretty.

Wire Chief Reports On Border Conditions

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 1.—Lu Wen-lin, Director of Telegraphs at Maimacheng and Taolin, has arrived in Peking. He will report to the Government on the conditions at those places before and after the invasion by the Russo-Mongol forces, which resulted in the breaking-off of telegraphic communication between those points.

Mr. Lu, during the time of the invasion, rendered signal services in protecting Chinese interests and in assisting the Chinese military service.

It is reported from Kalgan that the Commander-in-Chief there has dispatched the 1st Regiment of the 16th Division to the Hsingho and Changpei districts for frontier defense. The boundaries of the Chafhar district are now adequately defended. The Kalgan authorities have issued orders that no Russians are allowed to travel in the district unless provided with passports by the Bureau of Russian Affairs.

Japanese Banker In Peking In Behalf Of New Railway Loan

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 1.—Mr. Ono, the Vice-President of the Industrial Bank of Japan, who came to Peking to attend the annual meeting of shareholders of the Exchange Bank of China, of which the Industrial Bank of Japan is the principal shareholder, has been negotiating with the Ministry of Communications the final stages of the loan for the construction of the Kirin-Huaining Railway, the preliminary agreement for which was entered into by Mr. Tsao Yu-lin with Japanese interests during Tuan Chi-jui's Premiership.

It is semi-officially stated that the final agreement has been signed. The railway will run from Kirin through Yencheng and across the Tumen River into Korea. It is understood that Mr. Ono will also approach the Chinese Government regarding the repayment of Japanese loans contracted by the Anfuite Administration. It is stated that neither principal nor interest on these loans has been met.

The Ministry of Communications has sent experts to survey the Tsaochow-Shihchiachuang railway line with a view to the establishment of a telegraph line.

U.S. Attitude In Oil Dispute Defined

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, April 30.—The State Department, in a Note despatched to the Netherlands on April 19, with reference to the Djambi oil-fields in the Dutch East Indies stated that the solution of future oil problems throughout the world lay in an application of the principle of equal opportunity for the nationals of all countries. It said further that responsible and experienced American interests were desirous of co-operating with the Dutch Government in oil development in that field.

The Prince was received by a guard of honor from the Royal Artillery, while a band played the Japanese National Anthem, concluding with a flourish of bugles.

Both British and American Admirals were present, and the hosts of Great Britain and Japan were enthusiastically drunk.

The Stately Homes of England

Have you ever wandered through one of those old Elizabethan Mansions, of which England is so proud? Did you notice the black, lustrous panelling, doors and stairs? Did it not strike you as curious that the wooden beams in the outhouses had outlasted the stone of which the walls were built? The colour of the wood made you curious to know what stain had been used on it? "Time" imparted that wonderful tone to the wood, and all the base counterfeiters of the craftsmanship of a bygone age have never succeeded in producing an imitation which would deceive a babe. The Wood was Oak, the wood which we suggest you should use for your new floor or panelling.

WE SUPPLY OAK FOR FLOORING WAINSCOTING, PANELLING, ETC., ETC. KILN-DRIED AND QUALITY GUARANTEE D

We give all orders personal attention. After you have placed your order with us, the flooring will be laid and all work carried out under the personal supervision of a foreign expert of the Company. This supervision costs you nothing, and we prefer to do this for you.

Insist that all lumber for flooring and panelling for interior work bears the "Three Pines" Trade Mark, and the letters "KD" signifying kiln-dried, thus ensuring its perfect quality, and suitability for the severe climatic conditions of China.

Capt. Evans Lectures At Lyceum Thursday

The story of Capt. R. F. Scott's dash to the South Pole in 1910-12, will be told Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock at the Lyceum theater, by Capt. E. R. G. R. Evans, of the British cruiser Carlisle, who was second in command of the expedition.

The lecture was given a week ago Sunday at the Union Jack Club, and proved of gripping interest, with its recounting of hardship endured on the trip, disappointment at finding the Pole already discovered by the Norwegian Raold Amundsen, and the death from exposure and hunger of the captain and his two surviving companions when within a few miles of their food station. It was felt that the public should hear it.

The gallery of the Lyceum will be reserved for children and their attendants. Prices will be set at $2 for stalls, and $1 for the gallery. The theater is being donated. The proceeds will be given over to the British Naval Canteen funds on the Yangtze.

CHU CHI-CHEN IN LONDON

Japs Building New Forts At Tsingtao

(China Press Correspondence)
Peking, April 30.—Investigation of Japanese wireless construction in Tsingtao have led to the discovery that the commanders there are constructing new defenses and apparently preparing for some kind of military action. Chinese observers say that there is no possibility of an attack from China nor from bandit organizations and they are at a loss to explain the sudden military activity. The Chinese have protested to the Japanese Government concerning the wireless work but no attention has been paid to the protest. It is said in Government circles. Other wireless stations, according to this report are to be constructed at other points in Shantung.

HAD A HARD TIME GETTING HER TEETH

UNTIL THE DOCTOR RECOMMENDED BABY'S OWN TABLETS.

Many mothers endure agonies of mind when seeing their babies suffer the tortures of teething. Yet neither mother nor child need go through such misery, as many parents have proved, among them Mrs. David Lee, of Lindsay, Ontario, who writes:—

"My little girl had a hard time getting her teeth. She was quite feverish; her tongue was coated, her breath offensive, and she vomited curdled milk."

"On the advice of our doctor I gave her Baby's Own Tablets and she began improving at once. She had not slept well at nights for about three months, and I was almost worn out caring for her. Now her food digests properly, her breath is sweet, her tongue clean and she is quiet and good. I can strongly recommend the Tablets to other mothers as they did my baby good when nothing else did."

Baby's Own Tablets, the Canadian children's remedy, are obtainable from chemists, or post free, 60 cents the retail from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 36 Szechuen Road, Shanghai.

W. Electric Co.'s Loan To Peking

(China Press Correspondence)
Peking, April 30.—The Western Electric Company has loaned the Chinese Ministry of Communications $100,000 to enable the Ministry to take up its share in the increase of the capitalisation of the China Electric Company. The China Electric Company was formed in 1917 by Mr. Gerard Swope, representing the Western Electric, and the Ministry of Communications, with an American charter and a capital of $750,000 shared equally by the two stockholders. At a recent meeting of the Board of Directors of the company it was decided to increase the capital to one million dollars; and, as the Ministry of Communications was at that time able to contribute but $25,000 towards this increase, the Western Electric Company agreed to advance it the further $100,000 required. This loan is for a period of one year, with no discount and interest at 9 percent. The Ministry of Communications may repay the loan at any time within the year on thirty days' notice.

Mr. Clark H. Minor, who has been General Manager of the China Electric Company since it opened for business in 1918, has resigned from his position in order to accept the post of General Commercial Manager of the Western Electric Company, with headquarters in London. Mr. and Mrs. Minor are leaving Peking in the early part of May, going first to the United States and thence to England.

The new General Manager of the China Electric Company is Mr. F. C. Richardson, who for the past eight years has been General Manager of the Western Electric Company, with headquarters at Milan. Mr. Richardson has already arrived in Peking.

Huchow Subscribes $3000 Famine Aid

(China Press Correspondence)
Huchow, April 30.—Reports of the famine drive made in this city a short time ago have been coming in. The result of the house to house canvass was the collection of nearly $3,000.

Huchow was visited last week by the Shanghai Baptist College Glee Club. Two entertainments were given, one at the East Gate at the regular monthly meeting of the Huchow Literary and Social Club; and one in the evening at the Haitau in the gymnasium of Virginia School, before a large audience.

The singing of these young men was a revelation to both the foreigners and Chinese who had the pleasure of hearing them. It is a matter of surprise that with Chinese voices, the possessors of which have no musical inheritance as regards foreign music, and whose training must have been measured in terms of months only, such wholly admirable results could be achieved. The glee club and its indefatigable and enthusiastic director, Mr. Anderson, deserve much commendation. They have not only given much pleasure by their tour but they have also been a splendid advertisement of their college.

The people of the city are suffering considerable inconvenience just now from the fact that owing to the dredging of some of the canals the launches cannot enter the South Gate as usual, but are compelled to stop outside at a point several li distant. This necessitates the transfer to small boats and the consequent vexations.

Peking Newspaper Doubts Chita's Word

(China Press Correspondence)
Peking, April 29.—That actions speak louder than words, is the keynote of a recent editorial in the Yih Shih Pao, one of the leading dailies of Peking's vernacular press, with reference to the Far Eastern Republic's expressions of friendship toward China, and her desire to open up trade negotiations with the Chinese Government.

"Trade relations," says the Yih Shih Pao "should be built upon a mutually advantageous basis," and direct attention to the fact that though the Siberian Republic has repeatedly employed the catchwords of peace, humanity, anti-imperialism, etc., its actual evidence of friendship toward China has been in direct contradiction to its professions as is shown by the fact that "Since the inauguration of the new regime, Chinese property has been confiscated, Chinese houses occupied, Chinese shops closed, and what is worse, Chinese have been accused of being Russian reactionaries and shot down."

The financial losses, it is stated, "equal an amount of $122,000,000 and many Chinese have been reduced to beggary. Yet all the while the Russian Government talks about friendship with China. Such friendship resembles the friendship of Japan. It is unfortunate that along with the unrealistic ideals of the Russians for better Government, there should be in their midst wretched and poverty-stricken Chinese, for whose condition they are directly responsible." The editorial concludes with the hope that the Chinese authorities will, before concluding trade negotiations with the Far Eastern Republic, impress these facts upon its representative in Peking.

Peking, April 29.—That actions speak louder than words, is the keynote of a recent editorial in the Yih Shih Pao, one of the leading dailies of Peking's vernacular press, with reference to the Far Eastern Republic's expressions of friendship toward China, and her desire to open up trade negotiations with the Chinese Government.

"Trade relations," says the Yih Shih Pao "should be built upon a mutually advantageous basis," and direct attention to the fact that though the Siberian Republic has repeatedly employed the catchwords of peace, humanity, anti-imperialism, etc., its actual evidence of friendship toward China has been in direct contradiction to its professions as is shown by the fact that "Since the inauguration of the new regime, Chinese property has been confiscated, Chinese houses occupied, Chinese shops closed, and what is worse, Chinese have been accused of being Russian reactionaries and shot down."

The financial losses, it is stated, "equal an amount of $122,000,000 and many Chinese have been reduced to beggary. Yet all the while the Russian Government talks about friendship with China. Such friendship resembles the friendship of Japan. It is unfortunate that along with the unrealistic ideals of the Russians for better Government, there should be in their midst wretched and poverty-stricken Chinese, for whose condition they are directly responsible." The editorial concludes with the hope that the Chinese authorities will, before concluding trade negotiations with the Far Eastern Republic, impress these facts upon its representative in Peking.

BIG PLANTINGS OF OPIUM FOUND IN 4 PROVINCES

International Association's Agent Reports On Conditions After Trip

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, May 1.—The general secretary of the International Anti-Opium Association, Peking, has received from a correspondent, who has been traveling recently in Kansu and Shensi, the following information:

"Poppy was seen growing in Kansu in three hsiens, Fukiang, Tientsin, and Tsinan. In Tsinan, the military, under General Kiang of Tainchow, not only urged the people to plant poppy, but also planted it themselves. In Shensi, poppy was found growing in Langchow, where a large acreage was under cultivation. Chienyang, Kueichen, Meishan, Fufang, Wukong, Hsingping, Hsienyang and Changnan. In a few fields east of Sianfu it was being uprooted, the farmers saying that they had been ordered to destroy it."

"Last year in Hsingpinghsien the magistrate, in obedience to mandates put out by the Tsuchun, ordered the destruction of the poppy, and for so doing was arrested, brought before the Tsuchun and imprisoned. This year in this hsiens the people have planted large crops without interference."

The Secretary of the Zionist Organisation of America has forwarded to the Anti-Opium Association a letter from Sir Herbert Samuel, in answer to a letter from the Organisation dealing with opium traffic in Palestine, as follows:

"Dear Mr. Brandeis, 'I have received your letter of January 4, enclosing a memorandum from the International Anti-Opium Association, Peking. 'The cultivation of opium is, I believe unknown in Palestine. Should there be any signs that it is likely to be undertaken, the necessary measures to prevent it would, of course, be undertaken."

of Finance, Chow Tze-chi, who is tired of his post and in poor health, will, it is stated, be replaced by Vice-Minister Pan Fu, who possesses the friendship and confidence of all parties and has shown great activity in raising funds for the Government. The Minister of Communications will remain, as he has signified his willingness to do more for the Government and the militarists in the way of providing funds. There was much talk of his removal last week, but the difficulty of replacing him with a man satisfactory to more than one interested party and the fact that he is now prepared to do a little more in the way of raising money have kept the post for him. Thus there appears to be no immediate prospect of a Japanese Manchurian and Mongolian Development Loan for the relief of the Government's straitened circumstances.

The spoils of war are being divided at the Conference among its leaders and their followers. Chang Ching-hui, nephew of Chang Tso-lin and Commander-in-Chief at Kalgan, is to be appointed Chief of the Metropolitan Gendarmerie in succession to General Wang Huai-ching, who will henceforth command the 13th Division only. This change was made on the ground that Wang Huai-ching held two posts of great importance and so had time to do justice to neither.

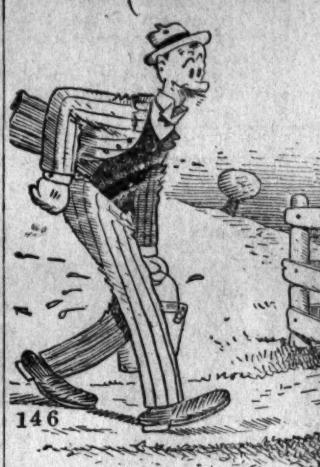

The Chief of Police in Peking, General Ying Hung-shou, is to be replaced by one of Chang Hsun's men, General Ching Hua; and the Chief of the Disciplinary and Investigation Corps of the Military Police, General Ma Lung-piao, who is aged and feeble, is to be superseded by General Liu Ching-piao, a follower of Marshall Tsao Kun.

CHANCES ARE WIDE OPEN IN SHANGHAI DERBY, BIG EVENT OF TODAY'S RACES

Stands Are Thronged For Opening Day Of Spring Meeting Despite Downpour—Shenkoland Finishes First In Criterion Stakes With The Hawk Second

After a day of mud and mist, that marked the opening yesterday of the Shanghai Race Club's Spring Meeting, the skies showed signs of clearing early in the evening and with the cessation of the rain fell hopes ran high last night that the sun would shine for the races today.

The big contest of the day—the Shanghai Derby—will be run about the noon hour, as it is the third of the program of 11 events and will be staged just before the tiffin interval. Probabilities in this event seemed more open last night than ever, for any one of at least a half a dozen ponies can win easily on showings they have made. In the list of favorites for the race are Kempton, Golden Rod, Standcliffe, Half Moon Bay, The Copper Bird, The Kingfisher and Istow.

THE CHAMPIONS

Interest in the big race of the meeting—the Champions—has been run as the ninth event of Wednesday's program, continues to grow keener as the time of the contest approaches and this is reflected in the fact that the number of tickets sold up to 6 o'clock in the sweeps ran over 28,000. There is fair probability that the total will go even beyond the high mark set at last fall's meeting when about 33,000 tickets were sold and this means that the big prize will be in the neighborhood of $175,000.

The weather was certainly rotten yesterday—no less. The jockeys who came in after the first clash round the course were indistinguishable one from the other. They looked like men made of chocolate, and their mounts were so plastered that they resembled some new species of swamp-living quadruped. It was one hard day for riders and ponies alike and, let it be said, the exhibition they gave over the quagmire of a course was one of black and unrelenting effort.

FAVORITES IN FOIN

While the course that had been in such excellent shape on Saturday was reduced to a sea of mire and conditions generally were upset, in general the favorites justified expectations. But a single dividend of the day, that in the sixth race when Victoria paid $120 for win, ran into size, though a number were paid in the course of the day around the $40 mark.

In the dubious Subscription Griffins Scramble, the first race yesterday, the weight of ticket buying opinion went in favor of Messrs. Stephen and Stitt's grey Tarnished Silver and these expectations were justified when Mr. J. K. Brand piloted the pony to victory ahead of Oxus, second choice favorite, and Mutton Cutlets.

The Criterion Stakes, the main event of the day and a contest of veteran ponies, was second on the card and it worked out precisely in conformity with the views of chance buyers. Shenkoland, ridden by Mr. C. R. Burkhill, was long favorite and won handsomely from The Hawk, ridden by Mr. Hill. The pony Marlow, which had ranked as an outsider in the pari-mutuel stands, finished in third place, winning from such ponies as Wilson and The Fighting King as well as several others.

ANOTHER FAVORITE

Again in the third race, The Griffins Plate, the most heavily backed ponies, ploughed in through the mud to victory. Plazing Corn in the lead and Silver Idol in second place. Le Lunatique was third.

The first real surprise of the day was of negative order and came in the fourth race, The Cathay Cup. In this Old Bill was backed heavily as favorite, particularly since in the past it has been in weather like yesterday's that the pony has shown brilliant performances. But Old Bill failed to show.

SILVER STREAK WINS

In this race Silver Streak staged a notable come-back, winning in old-time style with Mr. Johnstone up, with Rio Negro and San Juan, both outsiders, in second and third place. The dividend of $16.50 for win was one of the sizeable payments of the day.

Another favorite failed to qualify in the fifth race which was won by Kempton, though it should be said that Kempton has given excellent promise of possessing real mettle. Half Moon Bay was the heavily backed choice of ticket buyers, but the pony did no better than finish third on the heels of Tommy Lad which had not figured at all in the betting.

The Hart Legacy Cup, sixth race, defied all expectations when Messrs.

Baer: BEAUTIFUL SONG WITHOUT WORDS

That Was Kid Button's Prejudiced Idea Of The Referee's Check-off At Twilight

BY "BUGS" BAER

My champion, Kid Buttons, tossed Gink Fowler over his shoulder like a nasty look. He comes from the village of Scrapiron, where the babies cut their first teeth on circus rings. On Labor Day the Kid pushed over a smokestack and used it for a cigarette holder. Catching Gink off his well known guard, he knocked him endways from his future. Since then, Gink's equilibrium has been a total loss.

LARRY MUNROE, New York.

BUTTONS was wet tobacco. He was the first duke to win a battle in a ten-word telegram to all the sporting editors. He never recovered from the bulldoze that Gink placed on him on the day Kid Buttons was tapped for the Skull and Bones Society, a secret organization, with its membership limited to the next census.

The Kid was an object lesson to all young men who think that the ring is an ideal place to preserve a crease in the trousers. Knowing that the Kid was a battler with round heels, Gink didn't put the full bulldoze on him. But ever since then Buttons has been loose. He goes through life thinking that every door he opens is an elevator shaft. Gink simply turned the Kid over like a page in a fairy tale book, and that was all there was to it.

Mr. Munroe is probably a gentleman whose voracity is glittered at a banquet. But he has been billed on Kid Buttons, who used to be so nervous that he couldn't sharpen a lead pencil without putting a point on his finger.

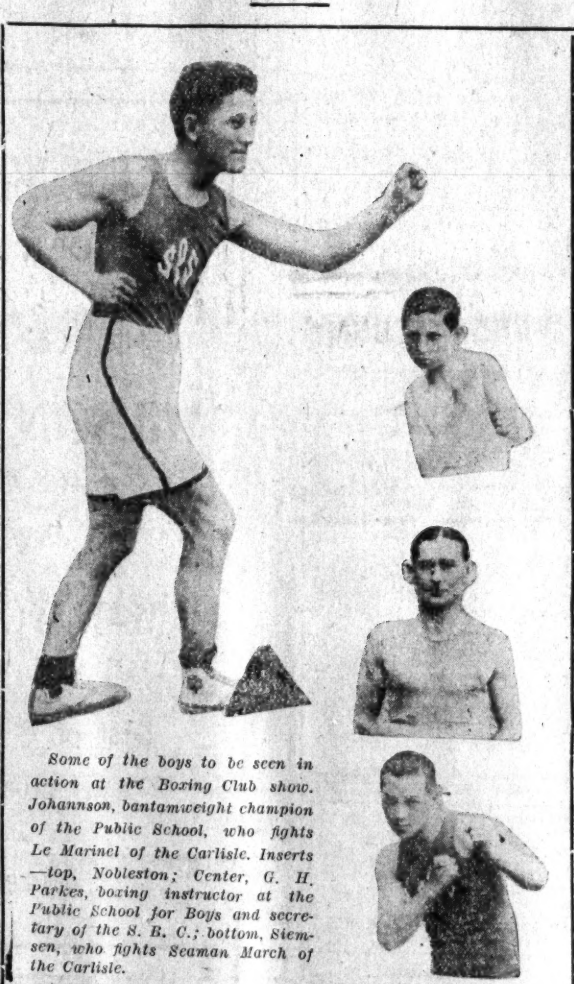

The first round was a typical Roughtown cadenza. Gink's footwork was par excellence. He went through the arena exit like a wife through her husband's pockets. Buttons was putting on the hunger strike when Gink flashed his well-known canvas strategy by darting back into the battle disguised as women and non-combatants. This was the gaudiest and most influential piece of general craft ever torn off on any American stage. Circling Buttons like a cruller surrounds its center, Gink suddenly let fly a powerful oratorical gesture that smoothed the Kid out like a debutante's opera complexion. The Kid started doing the Giant Cartwheel. He had a number on his back and one on his vest. The betting was six to five that he would call, odds or evens.

STUCK IN LIKE A PIN

He landed upright on his tack-shaped head and stuck in the ring like a pin in a lapel. This was the first time that a fighter had ever fallen on his edge.

Buttons' case was very sad. He always fought for the winner's end of the grabbag. When corrugated times spanked the country all he had left to fall back on was the green collar button on his neck. They say he is the only citizen in Forty-Six Rounds Of Scrapping At Town Hall In Opening Show Of S.B.C.

Eight bouts are carded for the opening show of the boxing carnival starting tonight at the Town Hall under the direction of the newly formed Shanghai Boxing Club. The scraps run all the way from a bout between a couple of 70-pound lads to a battle between middleweights. The first event is at 9 o'clock.

The big event of the evening will be an eight-round contest between A. F. Wilson of the Shanghai Boxing Club and Seaman York of the British cruiser Carlisle. The men are to weigh in at 155 pounds.

The other bouts are:

- Herzberg, S. B. C., vs. E. Landau, Shanghai Public School, six rounds at 112 pounds.
- Siemsen, S. B. C., vs. Seaman March of the Carlisle, six rounds at 148 pounds.
- T. Beesley, S. P. S., vs. B. Herzberg, S. B. C., four rounds at 70 pounds.
- J. Johannson, S. B. C., vs. Seaman Le Marinel of the Carlisle, six rounds at 124 pounds.
- M. Dietrich, S. P. S., vs. P. Pinkham, S. P. S., four rounds at 80 pounds.
- H. R. Toledo vs. Seaman Dealy of the Carlisle, six rounds at 140 pounds.
- Boy Young, S. P. S., vs. Boy Evans, of the Carlisle, six rounds at 112 pounds.

Trophies for tonight's bouts have been presented by Gande, Price and Company, Shanghai Times, Llewellyn Jones, Dunlop Rubber Company, Boyes, Bassett and Company and the Shanghai Race Club.

Tomorrow night in the feature event Seaman Bowldge of the Carlisle, who was middleweight champion of the British Mediterranean feet in 1919 and 1920, will fight R. B. Martin of the Shanghai Boxing Club. A trophy for the event has been presented by Jack Spunt.

TRACK AND FIELD MEET AT NANYANG

Crowd Of 500 Sees Interesting Events At College Grounds

The annual track and field meet was held at Nanyang College on Saturday afternoon before a crowd of about 500 interested spectators. The weather was all that could be desired but the wet state of the ground somewhat handicapped good times being returned. The various events were run off on grass courses, the results of which were as follows:

- 100 yards dash, 10 2-5, N. L. Chang.
- Shot put, 37, George Chow.
- 880 yards run, 2 27 2-5, C. Y. Liang.
- High jump, 5' 2 1/2", H. S. Loo.
- 220 yards dash, 25 1-5, K. C. Shen.
- Discuss throw, 97' 8", George Chow.
- Broad jump, 18' 2", K. C. Shen.
- 220 Low hurdles, 28 3-5, W. T. Kwan.
- 120 High hurdles, 16 2-5, K. C. Shen.
- Javelin throw, 118', N. L. Chang.
- 440 yards dash, 59", W. T. Kwan.
- Pole vault, 8' 9", S. J. Young.
- 1 mile run, 5 56 2-5, S. T. Woo.

A very interesting and novel event was the exhibition of Chinese boxing by Chinese girl students who acquitted themselves remarkably well. The College boxing team also gave a boxing exhibition which was much appreciated by the crowd.

During the afternoon the College band rendered selections and an excellent tea party terminated a most successful afternoon's sport.

SEVENTH INNING RALLY BY SHANGHAI BASEBALL TEAM WINS GAME FROM NAVY

Local Men By Bunching Of Hits Overtake Sailors In Last Frame; Score Is 3-2; Hopkins Fans Side When Threatened In Sixth

SHANGHAI staged a seventh-inning rally in the game with the New Orleans baseball team Sunday afternoon and won out in easy fashion after adding the smaller end of the score since the opening innings. The final score was 3 to 2. Shanghai earned each of the three runs by clean hitting, bunching the clouts. The sailors lost their game through scattering bingles through the seven innings of play.

Both teams worked nicely. There was a period of looseness on the part of the local men in the second inning which resulted in the sailors scoring their two runs. Burman and Hopkins each worked hard throughout and after they had settled down to the game, it became a scoreless proposition. Hopkins, however, had the edge in pitching honors with his seven strikeouts as compared with Burman's three. He saved the game for Shanghai in the sixth when with a man on third he fanned the next three batters in a row.

Maloney covered first for Shanghai and covered it well. Crow, who played his first 1921 game yesterday, handled third base in great style. He showed well at the bat too. Hoag, who started behind the bat but suffered a split hand in stopping one of Hopkins' bad ones in the second, and C. I. Smith relieved him, Merrill taking second and Sperry going to left field.

SCORE EARLY

Scoring began in the first inning. Merrill singled through second, was sacrificed, stole third, and scored on Bill's single past Zanzuki. Maloney followed with a single to left but S. F. Smith fanned and Stovall flied out to right, leaving both men stranded.

The Navy men got their two runs in the second frame on two hits and some loose playing and throwing around of the ball on the part of the local men. Zanzuki singled through short, stole second and third and scored on Fuller's hit through third. Slosser walked, stole second and came home on Baskins' out.

After the second inning with the score 2 to 1 against Shanghai, the game tightened up. In the third he sailors got a man to third but he died there. In the sixth again, with none out the Navy got two men on when Zanzuki singled and Taylor took one of Hopkins' benders in the ribs. Hopkins tightened and fanned the next three men.

Shanghai, after the first inning was easily disposed of without getting a man past second until the lucky seventh when, with but one out, the needed two runs were put across and the game finished.

Three hits and a walk provided the tallies. C. I. Smith singled to center, took second when Sperry walked stole third, and was caught in.

Australian Team Gets First Blood In English Cricket

(Reuter's Service)
London, April 30.—The Australian cricketers opened their tour at Leicester today with a match against Leicestershire.
Glorious weather prevailed, and the attendance numbered some 9,000 spectators. Leicestershire batted first, and were dismissed for 136, thanks mainly to the deadly bowling of McDonald, who took eight of their wickets for 41 runs.

On the Australians going in, their first wicket fell cheaply, but thereafter Macartney and Bardsley batted until stumps were drawn for the day, when the Australian total stood at 243 runs for one wicket. Macartney, by masterly cricket, had done

140 to his credit, and Bardsley, who gave a really sound display, had scored 97, both being not out.

London, May 2.—The Marylebone
Cricket Club has finally decided that the system of scoring points in the County Cricket Championship will be the same as last year, namely, five points to win, the side leading in first innings of a drawn match scoring two points and their opponents nothing.

TENNIS IN LONDON

(Reuter's Service)
London, April 30.—The Tennis Finals at Hendon today gave the following results:
Singles: B. Norton (from South Africa) beat Gordon Lowe, 2-6;
6-3; 10-8; 4-6. Miss Ryan beat Miss
Kemmis-Betty, 6-2; 6-2; 6-3.
Doubles: J. Wheatley (a South African) and von Braun (a Swede) beat Gordon Lowe and Sir George
Thomas, 6-3; 6-4.

Westinghouse

Power

Man's ability to use Nature's power measures the progress of the human race.
What tremendous advances the last century has disclosed!

Discovery after discovery; invention after invention perfected—until now, a fitting climax, the titanic force of electricity responds to the pressure of man's finger.

For as late as 1840 power was still furnished by hand; in 1860 a tread-mill was invented, a horse furnishing the power; in 1875 a vertical steam plant on top of a boiler; in 1905 the horizontal engine and today, the acme of perfection, the induction motor directly connected with the machine without loss of power—the product of Westinghouse Electric

And always to the forefront, in the march of electrical progress has been the great Westinghouse organization. Founded in 1886, it has ever proven worthy. Today it employs more than 40,000 workmen, the most skillful engineers and scientists. In 21 great factories it makes electrical equipment of all kinds. Its products reach wherever there is electrical power in the world.

ENGLAND SOON ON
EVEN KEEL, HE SAYSH. Gordon Selfridge Tells Bond Club She Is Optimistic And Hard At Work

New York, March 12.—"England is a great ship of state with undoubted ability to weather a storm. She is still in rough water and as the storm grows less the ship will reach an even keel quicker than any other part of Europe," said H. Gordon Selfridge in a luncheon before the Bond Club at a luncheon in the Bankers' Club yesterday.

Mr. Selfridge, who was formerly connected with the Marshall Field store in Chicago, went to England several years ago and established a chain of twenty department stores throughout the British Isles.

PUTTING HOUSE IN ORDER. "London is a great reservoir of resources, and ability which gives to its securities strength which is unquestioned," he said.

Mr. Selfridge said that England was putting her house in order in a cool and methodical way.

"England is optimistic. Every one feels that with good hard work and intelligent conservatism it will make good in those things which it has bound itself to make good on," he said. "The bankers are sticking to their jobs as bankers and their integrity gives one a feeling in their confidence and ability which is unshakable."

Mr. Selfridge related an instance where the President of the London City and Midland Bank, with whom he was not banking at the time, aided him when he was a newcomer by purchasing stock for him and then loaning him the money to pay for it so that the stock would not go into the hands of the general public.

He said that the great reason for England's quick recovery is that her financial reservoir is being filled with the savings of the people.

"It is difficult to know where the money comes from," he said.

"There is one satisfactory thing about paying taxes in England. That is that all people are treated alike. The one reason that we opposed the excess profits tax was that it treated some people unfairly."

He said that Sir Austin Chamberlain, who was the only champion of the tax who still favored it, announced a few days ago that the tax would cease with the ending of the fiscal year.

"This will give our business a chance to grow," he said.

A BUYER'S MARKET. Mr. Selfridge said that for the first time in three years England became a buyer's market on Aug. 1, last year. He said that the dealers had accumulated large stocks, and after the change in market conditions it became difficult to dispose of them.

"We think we can see in the immediate future the disposal of the accumulated stocks," he said. "Who are fast disappearing. Lancashire, one of the largest producing centers in England, has indicated that the end of the accumulation is disappearing by the gradual resumption of manufacture."

"We want normal times as quickly as we can get them. Wages must be adjusted, and we in England are watching those branches of industry over here where the working classes have accepted a voluntary cut in wages."

Mr. Selfridge said the high cost of living had been greatly reduced in England; that the Labor Department has announced a 17 percent decrease in January and as great a decrease in February.

"I have been told that some classes of industry are paying less than the union scale of wages and the unions are looking the other way, knowing all about it," he said.

"The English people are absolute sportsmen who will play the game squarely if they are good Englishmen," said Mr. Selfridge in closing. Grosvenor Fawell, President of the Bond Club, introduced Mr. Selfridge as the man who "had successfully introduced American ice cream in England."

Kiukiang Tag Day
Nets Famine Fund

(China Press Correspondence)
Kiukiang, April 30.—The amount reported collected during the recent famine relief drive approximates $2,300. Every day for three days groups of students went out on the streets with collection boxes and urged passers-by to contribute. Every evening lectures were given and lantern slides shown depicting the suffering in the famine stricken areas, to which admission was secured by purchase of tickets. The entire city was divided off into nearly forty districts, and to each district was assigned a solicitor with a subscription book. The final day was observed as "Tag Day."

KINGMAN & BROS.
How to Preserve the Teeth

In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precautions must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, osteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise during the process of digestion, there are settled on the teeth, some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr. KINGMAN to the subscribers consists in:—
(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

APRIL 29

Spot and forward bar silver were each up 1-8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price advanced to 60 1/2 cents and the London New York cross rate is 395 1/2.

The official rates were unchanged from yesterday and business throughout the day was done at about last night's closing rates.

In the forenoon particularly the market was weak when there were no sellers of Sterling at better than 3-4 and of Gold Dollars at 66.

In the afternoon rates steadied up somewhat when business in Sterling was done at 3-4 1/2 and in Gold Dollars at 66 1/2.

The market was, however, at no time strong there being good buyers at around these rates. There were again few bills offered.

India is reported to have bought silver in London yesterday and the Continent sold. It is understood that at an advance in price America will become a heavy seller and even should India continue to buy moderately no substantial rise in price is to be expected. It is likely that rates will remain around their present level in the immediate future.

APRIL 30

Spot and forward bar silver were each down 1-8d. in London yesterday.

The New York price as well as the London-New York cross rate is unchanged. The official rates today were the same as yesterday with the exception of the Franc rate which was dropped to 845 and the Gold Dollar rate which was raised to 65 1/2.

The market throughout the day was steady, speculators being moderate sellers. A fair amount of business was done in Sterling at 3-4 1/2 and in Gold Dollars at 66 1/2.

The market was featureless with little business doing throughout the day.

There seems to have been practically no business doing in the London and New York silver markets yesterday and there is no reason to expect any particular change in the rates just now.

Sunday's Concert

There was a large attendance at the Town Hall Sunday at the twenty-fourth concert of the Public Band. A very attractive all-Tschaikowsky programme with the assistance of two first class artists was a grand treat to all who attended.

The first item was the Fifth Symphony in four movements, followed by Rocco Variations played by Mr. Stupin, cellist, who was accompanied by the orchestra. This is Mr. Stupin's first appearance in Shanghai, and his wonderful playing was met with great applause. Mr. Stupin has an enormous technique and great depth of feeling and we can safely say that he is one of the best cellists Shanghai has ever heard. He possesses a very fine instrument, a genuine Nikolai Amati, and in response to the ovation accorded him he gave a delightful rendering of Kreisler's Liebesleid; he was accompanied

HIS FIRST BET

Percy Peckham had always been a bit of a sportsman. When quite young he won the championship at marbles at nobody-knows school. He was in the first ping pong team for the village of Versailles, and at flying kites his fame had reached into the neighboring village slower-still.

Percy arrived in Shanghai a little time ago, and yesterday paid his first visit to a real race course. Let it be said that he was not entirely ignorant of the ways of horses and jockies. He was a graduate of the Haskell Academy, and on more than one occasion squandered something on the outsider.

But yesterday was his first visit to a real race course. He felt a devil of a fellow. He had purchased a ticket days ago for fifteen very good dollars, and was able to gaze over the barricade at the vulgar mob who entered by the other gate. The blood coursed rapidly through his veins. He felt a man. In fact, a sportsman. He was mixing with the racy throng who through many weeks had watched the training results. Here he was waiting to make the first real bet of his life.

The local Derby was the race and he had the real dope that Half Moon was a positive cert. In fact he had been told by a friend of his, that his chauffeur was the brother of a chauffeur whose master had his Dunlop tyres pumped by Mr. Gibby—and Mr. Gibby owned the pony—and he had been heard to say that if the other ponies didn't run too fast that Half Moon had a good chance.

Percy paid little heed to the beauties around him natural or artificial. It mattered little to him whether the bubbles bubbled in Bubbling Well, or whether the Yangtze pood at Pootung. He was there to make his first bet.

True it is that he marveled at the seemingly never-ending stream of humanity, hustling and jostling him about like a discarded cork upon a discordant ocean. He wondered at the bewildering number of beautiful damsels who dared appear to face the gentle rain, so pearl-like in structure, so cruel in destructure.

He was amazed at the amount of money people had in the shape of five dollar bills. He was astonished to find that a colleague in his own office, who had asked the temporary loan of fifty to give his dear old granny a golden wedding present, was there with quite a lot of notes, splashing them about on ponies that just lost by a tail.

But Percy was there to make his first bet. He was waiting for the Derby. He had heard of the Derby in England. He had heard of the fabulous sums that a sovereign sometimes returned. Here he was with dollars amounting to a little over two sovereigns. He would place all the cash on Half Moon; with the money he won he would put to the purchase of Champion tickets. The first prize would bring in thousands of dollars. He would endow a home for indigent landlords. He would spend a little of the winnings on lengthening the club bar. He would build the Monkey House at his own expense. He would give the Salaries Commission a blank cheque. He—

The Derby: (according to forecasts) Half Moon wins in a fox trot. Pays cents ten.

Percy is not going to the Races tomorrow.

Germany's Debt Dodging Keeps World In Unrest

BY FRANK H. SIMONDS
(New York Herald)

At last we have seen disclosed the strategy by which Germany hopes in the next three decades to escape from the consequences of defeat and transform that defeat into a decisive triumph, or at least into the foundation for a later triumph.

From the moment of the armistice to the present hour Germany has been engaged in a stupendous propaganda maneuver, an operation on two fronts—that at home and that abroad. The purpose of the maneuver at home has been to establish the following points:

I. Germany was not guilty of precipitating, much less planning, the world war. Her statesmen were stupid enough to allow her to seem guilty, but in reality she was an innocent victim. II. Germany was not defeated in the field. Her victorious armies retired to German soil after her statesmen had been tricked by Mr. Wilson's peace proposals and her radicals at home had betrayed their country by the revolution. III. Germany is not bound by the terms signed at Paris and embodied in the Treaty of Versailles because she was innocent, because she was not defeated and because her signature was extorted under threat of military force.

Now, this is the fashion in which the home front has been restored and consolidated since 1918—that is, since the Armistice of Rethondes. The German people have been steadily taught that they were the victims of conditions manufactured by their enemies at the moment when the war broke, that they were the dupes of Wilson in November, 1918, and that Versailles was "a peace of violence," without legal or moral force, as a consequence. Thus a united German public has been created to evade all the terms of the treaty.

PROPAGANDA OFFENSIVE

So much for the manipulation on the home front. As to the enemy front the scheme has been, of course, quite different. At bottom the Germans have based all their operations on two clear conceptions:

I. The economic solidarity of the world is indispensable. A ruined Germany must affect the whole industrial situation of the world, both from the economic and the political sides—from the economic because Germany is a great market for foreign countries, from the political because there is always the peril of Bolshevism.

II. The Anglo-French-American association which won the war is by no means a natural alliance and cannot be expected to endure in peace time. Great Britain and the United States have enormous interest in preserving the German market for their own products and raw materials. France with such interest is bound to seek to reduce German strength and thus to encounter Anglo-American opposition. But the Anglo-American association is more to be regarded as permanent than the Anglo-French.

It follows, then, that all German foreign policy since the armistice has been directed toward two things: toward establishing the importance for the British and American exporters of the German market and their interest in preserving it; and toward separating France from Great Britain and the United States and Great Britain from the United States. On the success of this strategy ultimately rests the hope of German escape from the consequences of her military defeat.

Now looking back over more than two years the whole German operation is spread before the thoughtful observer. Germany has played the commercial game with consummate skill. She has found in foreign economists and bankers; in those of the Keynes school and in other schools precious allies. She has roused the apprehension of British and American producers over the perils alike of the degeneration of the German market following too onerous exactions and the dangers of paralysis in their own home markets due to an overstimulation of German industries to pay German indemnities.

SEEKS TO TEMPT THE FRENCH

At the same time she has carried on with respect of France a campaign of exasperation designed to tempt the French to extreme measures without regard to Anglo-American sentiments and thus to separate the Allies. She has steadily refused to meet the disarmament terms so far as they affect land conditions—that is, French interests, while making no protest to complete compliance with the naval conditions, which concern the British. Last summer her policy moved the French to the occupation of Frankfurt without British approval, thus putting a sudden and dangerous strain on Anglo-French relations.

Meantime, I do not think any American is unimpaired of the fashion in which German propaganda has been at work in the United States, at work against both Great Britain and France, operating sometimes under the cover of the Irish question, sometimes frankly exploiting Anglo-American rivalries and in a recent instance endeavoring to make capital out of a wholly false issue of French black troops and the so-called "Rhine Horrors."

The underlying purpose in each case has been to separate France from Britain or to embroil Britain with Americans.

Confident that this campaign had reached a satisfactory point, the Germans went to London the other day prepared to resist the allied terms as framed at Paris. Before the German representatives left Berlin a campaign had been carried on in the domestic press and the Reichstag designed at one time to fire Germans and frighten foreigners; to give the impression of a united, determined Germany ready to risk a new war rather than yield to terms which had been published in advance as the minimum allied requirement.

As it turned out, the London operation proved as complete a failure as the submarine gamble of the war itself. The Germans had reasoned with correctness, that the British public was eager to avoid long military ventures and fresh economic disturbances, but they had underestimated the degree to which the British public still held Germany responsible for the war and ignored the fact that it was therefore unwilling in the last analysis to let Germany put the whole burden of the war upon her victims.

DID NOT RECKON ON BRITONS

A reasonable proposal, an apparent willingness to meet possible requirements, would have placed a heavy strain upon the Anglo-French relations, because the British Ministry could hardly have faced its own public after a refusal, while no French Ministry could have survived substantial concessions.

Happily for the world the Germans misjudged their situation. Before their spokesman, Dr. Simons, came to London he had toured Germany using language at once defiant and inflammatory. When he came to London he reiterated the substance of his previous speeches on the home front and gave to Lloyd George the agile Welshman seized so skillfully and used to consolidate his own home front. Instead of dividing British public opinion, therefore, the Germans once more, as so often in the war, deprived those most kindly inclined toward them of a single leg to stand on.

German strategy thus led to the prompt redressing of allied lines. Lloyd George, who has favored moderation steadily for many months and drawn down upon himself endless criticism in France, saw himself suddenly disclosed as the dupe of Germany. What he had argued, namely, that Germany was in a reasonable mood, that she was striving to meet the new conditions honorably, that the war had changed her temper and her purpose, was demonstrated in a few brief minutes to have been as completely inexact as the arguments of other British statesmen before the war that Germany had no hostile purpose in view. Once more, at a critical moment, the French estimate of the German was demonstrated to have been mathematically and psychologically exact.

In this situation nothing was left for Lloyd George but to return to the French side. All his efforts, all the efforts of English policy for more than a year, fell to the ground. Lloyd George, himself, was in just such a position as Mr. Wilson found himself in when in February, 1917, the Germans suddenly declared their unlimited submarine warfare, thus giving the lie to all their previous pledges and all of Mr. Wilson's earlier assertions. In a word German strategy in London led to swift and complete disaster.

For the moment Germany has failed to separate France and Great Britain. In reality she has thrown them more closely together than they have been since the hour of the armistice. But the fact remains that British and French interests are still divergent. The German is wholly sound in calculating that while France, mainly an agricultural State with only a moderate industrial life and a restricted export trade, is little affected by German economic paralysis, the opposite is the case with Great Britain, whose present crisis of unemployment is due in some degree to the closing of the German market and to those other central European markets in which the German played the part of a middleman.

If the British have been momentarily disgusted with the German tactics, if they now support Lloyd George in an effort to compel German submission even at the price of new coercion, the major fact remains the same, that this coercion will prove an expensive luxury for the British, even if no British troops are used. It will prove expensive because it will automatically reduce the value of the German market, and if, as is possible, there be domestic disorders in Germany following the new occupation, the loss to the British will be still greater.

COERCION COSTLY TO BRITISH

Behind this question of trade lies the larger problem of political unrest. The whole of middle Europe, as I have so often pointed out in these articles, is in a state of unstable equilibrium. I do not believe the German propaganda arguments about Germany "going Bolshevik" have much basis in fact, but it is true that these arguments now and henceforth, AT FIRST STAGE OF CAMPAIGN And it is essential for Americans to perceive that, in any case, we are only at the first stage of the campaign. At the moment there is discussion as to whether Germany shall pay up in thirty years or in forty-two. But in either case one must see that for decades Germany will still be seeking, striving, planning and maneuvering to escape payment. We may accept it as axiomatic that Germany does not mean to pay, that she is determined to escape all payment, and at most only to make such payments as she cannot avoid.

For thirty years, then, at the least, we are to have these ever recurring crises. For thirty years, with all the changing conditions of political and economic life, Germany will remain outside the circle of nations even remotely content with their position. During all this time her policy will be concentrated on the effort to turn nation against nation, to stimulate international discord.

Granted that during all this time she remains powerless to risk a new war, conceding—and it is too great a concession manifestly—that her weakness endures, that none of her neighbors, Russia for example, comes to her aid, we have still to count on a resistance which, while passive, is hardly less potent, with all that such resistance must mean for the peace of the world, and above all for the economic order of the world.

One single detail will serve to indicate the extent of world unrest that we seem in for during the next generation. Under the Treaty of Versailles allied troops are to occupy German territory for fifteen years, provided the terms of the treaty are

ON STRIKING LUCKY

If you back a pony "to win" in the Pari-mutuel, cover yourself by backing it with double your winning stake "for a place," and especially so in large fields.

For example:—

In the Autumn Cup, 1 1/4 mile, run 8th November, 1920.

	Win Tickets.	Dividend.	Place Tickets.	Dividend.
1. THE EAGLE	413	$24.50	379	$ 8.20
2. SILVER STREAK	861	—	372	$ 8.30
3. TITCHFIELD	198	—	93	$18.20

$5 and $10 on "Silver Streak" for Win and Place, would return $16.60, thus saving the lost "Win" Stake.

$5 and $10 on "Titchfield" for Win and Place would return $36.40, against the total $15 laid out.

This method of trying to "STRIKE LUCKY" by covering the outright Win stake is not generally practised, or there would not be such disproportion between the number of tickets bought "for Win" and "for Place" as shown above.

There is a Cigarette and Pipe tobacco called

"LUCKY STRIKE"

It is a blend of American Burley tobacco

Take some "LUCKY STRIKE" Cigarettes or Tobacco to the Races.

They are "Good Joss" and Good Smoking.

"Strike Lucky" with "LUCKY STRIKE"!

Household Hints

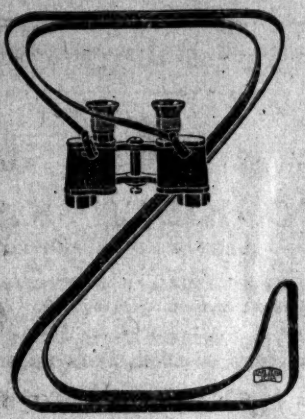

Silver sand, mixed with an equal quantity of common salt, makes a splendid scouring mixture. The best way to cook macaroni is to drop it into boiling salted water, stir, cook till tender, and then drain after pouring cold water over it. To take away the disagreeable flavor that some imported bacon contains, soak each rasher in slightly warmed vinegar and water for five minutes before frying.

fulfilled, and then to be withdrawn. But Germany has already violated many of the terms beyond all debate or discussion. Henceforth the allied troops may, as a consequence, remain on the Rhine indefinitely. And, given the present and the certain future spirit of Germany, French troops will stay on the Rhine, unless perchance they advance to the Elbe or the Spree.

But this means a prolongation of some if not all of the conditions of war. It means interruptions to the flow of trade and commerce. It means a never hidden threat of resort to military weapons, if German policy continues to invite military intervention by deliberate and calculated evasion of the terms of the treaty of peace.

What is the use of calculating upon a future, even reasonably remote, in which real order and business stability will arrive, if one nation deliberately adopts a policy which insures ever recurring crises and periodical resort to military force?

What can be the hope of real return of peace as long as Germany gambles on the world desire for peace as strong enough to enable her now to escape from the obligations incurred by her conduct of the war and tomorrow, having escaped, having shifted the burden of paying for the war from the backs of her own people to those of her neighbors, to seek to abolish the political and territorial consequences by one more war, better planned this time?

And if we see what German policy is and what it is to be for the future through the events at London, is it not necessary to perceive also what allied policy—above all, what French policy—will be?

Is it not manifest that, granted that German effort to divide France from Britain fails, as it has so far failed and seems likely to continue to fail; conceded that the similar effort to embroil the United States fails, a day will come when it will seem to the whole world, outside of Germany, no longer worth while to restrain the French, provided such restraint could be exerted?

ALWAYS THE BLIND SPOT

I do not believe that Germany will be more successful in the future than in the recent past, in dividing her enemies and thus achieving her purpose. In the last analysis there is a blind spot in the German mind which always injures disaster to German designs. Over and over again during the war above all, in the critical days when the war was just becoming inescapable, that German blind spot was disclosed. The German capacity for reuniting divided allies by some stroke of supreme folly has patently not been reduced by the experiences of the war itself. And in the end it seems likely that a new German blunder will have the old familiar consequences.

There never was a better chance for Germany, by skill, by a little real comprehension of the exact situation in the world, to compel her conquerors to modify their terms, to put the French in a position of having either to diminish their demands, based upon justice as they are, or lose British and perhaps American support.

There never was a finer chance to exploit the war weariness of the world and the general desire to get back to business and have done with all that the war had meant.

But, given all these initial advantages the German has again thrown them away because he could not perceive realities.

BEGS ANNULMENT OF $600 NOTE; CHARGE DURESS

German Sues In U. S. Court; Defendant Claims Debt 15 Years Overdue

Undue coercion and duress in the obtaining of a signature to a promissory note were given yesterday in the United States Court for China as the basis for a suit brought by Leo Koenigsberger, a German against Alfred Havert. The plaintiff stated that Mr. Havert had withheld a consignment of his merchandise and documents until $387.00 expenses were paid, and a note for $600 was signed.

The note, plaintiff said, was a "hold-up;" he was "in a corner" and had to sign to get his cargo. Defendant had been pressed at the time; he had even told mutual friends that it was a "mean trick" to play on an old friend, but he "needed the money."

The defense of Mr. Havert was that Koenigsberger still owed him $600 on an "I.O.U." for $1,000 dated 15 years ago, and that the settlement for the cargo and documents and expense attaching thereto gave convenient opportunity for cancelling the older debt. He denied, however, that there had been any suggestion of extortion in the deal. Mr. Havert was not prepared to produce the "I.O.U." He had lost it, he said.

Mr. Koenigsberger could not remember exactly whether or not he had given Mr. Havert a note or an "I.O.U." for $1,000 in 1906. He had challenged Mr. Havert to produce the note and the latter, he maintained, had finally acknowledged that he didn't have it. Koenigsberger had, however, paid the $387 and signed the $600 note which Havert offered as the balance of the $1,000 due on the "I.O.U."

Many witnesses were called and lengthy testimony was taken after which Mr. F. J. Schuhl for the defense argued shortly that the old debt had been admitted verbally and in correspondence and that the second note had been signed in cancellation of the old. Mr. L. K. Kentwell for the plaintiff contended that the note was signed under duress, and that no value was given for it.

Judgment was reserved.

Suit Against Dr. Martin Dismissed On Plaintiffs' Motion

A plaintiffs' motion for dismissal at their cost was allowed in the United States Court for China yesterday by Judge C. S. Lobingier. In the case of Doctors S. R. Ransom, Lionel Street and A. M. Massey, versus Dr. Paul M. Martin, in which had been demanded an accounting after the dissolution of a partnership between the four doctors.

The motion for dismissal was accompanied by a second motion in which Mr. F. J. Schuhl for the defendant asked that the case be brought to trial and a date set for hearing. This latter motion was dismissed.

The case was a second action between the principals, a former one in which the three plaintiffs had sought to prevent Dr. Martin from practicing in China, as a result of having severed his connection with their firm having been decided in favor of the defendant last fall.

Firemen Check Bad Hongkew Fire

Despite the disadvantage of a distant hydrant and a strong east wind, the Hongkew and Central divisions of the fire department effected a remarkable stop of a fire that destroyed the front portion of the Young Hah Box Factory at C 690 East Yuhung Road Sunday morning.

The factory was stored to the roof with large wooden packing cases surrounded by shavings and chips. The front portion was in flames when the brigade arrived while the wind caused the flames to spread at a tremendous speed. The nearest hydrant was on Chaufoong Road, a considerable distance away.

The machinery of the factory and a number of cases were saved. The premises was insured for Tls. 13,000.

Many New Roads Being Constructed In Vicinity Of Nanking

(China Press Correspondence)
Nanking, April 30.—It is with the greatest of satisfaction that we notice the activities of local authorities in connection with the Good Roads Movement. Whether officially connected with that organization or not, the improvement of the highway from the Chao-Yang Gate, one of the west gates of the city, to Tung Shui, a popular resort where hot springs are located, about twenty or more miles from the city, is a welcome one. The new road is to be twenty-five feet wide and that will make it possible for automobiles and carriages, as well as rickshaws, to go out to that interesting spot. Close to Tung Shui, and back in the hills, are the quarries from which the Ming Emperor cut the monoliths that are to be seen in the vicinity of the city in the shape of animal and men figures.

A number of the Nanking community have either been in Famine Relief work in the north or are expected to go. Prof. G. W. Sarvia, of Nanking University, has been away for over a month and has now returned to his classes in the University. From the Y.M.C.A., Mr. P. Gillet, Mr. H. R. Sweetman, Mr. Lu Si-ching and Mr. Wang Ding are away. From the Presbyterian Mission, Prof. C. Stanley Smith has already gone and Mr. S. J. Mills and Mr. Hwa Beh-hsiung are to leave in a few days. Rev. H. C. Steinheimer and Rev. R. C. Tremann, of the Methodist Mission, have both returned recently. Miss Mary Kelly and Rev. K. S. Hida, of the Christian Mission, are now in the north, while Messrs. Lee, Saunders and Gray, of the Language School are also away.

Building in Hsiao-kwan, the commercial port of the city, is coming on in great shape. The China Mutual Life Insurance Company of Shanghai is putting up a two-story building, the architects being Algar and Co., of Shanghai. The China Mutual is to occupy the upper floor and the first floor is to be leased to the Kin Cheng Bank and an optical company. Behind the main building, six rat-proof buildings for native hongs are to be put up by the Insurance Company, which will be a step in advance over any other buildings now occupied by Chinese in Hsiao-kwan. The main structure is to be completed in August, when the building will be opened with appropriate ceremonies. Mr. I. F. Drysdale, the enterprising agent for Kiangsu, Anhwei and Kiangsi, reports considerable interest on the part of the wealthier Chinese along insurance lines.

The British-American Tobacco Company is also putting up a fine new building across the road from the British Consulate, while a number of Chinese business houses are developing along that line also. Nanking, May 1.—The students of the Higher Primary Department of the Nanking University have been greatly interested in raising funds for the Famine Relief work and decided to get

American Woman's Club

"Phases of Chinese Home Life" is the program topic for the meeting of the American Woman's Club to be held this afternoon at the Carlton Cafe. The subject will be presented by Mrs. J. A. Ely of St. Mary's School, Mrs. C. C. Chen, of the Shanghai Baptist College, and Dr. Mary Stone, one of the first Chinese women physicians who is now developing a School for Nurses in connection with the Margaret Williamson Hospital. Mr. V. Volin will contribute several vocal solos. The meeting was arranged by the Mothers' Department, of which Mrs. W. G. Hiltner is chairman. Owing to the length of the program, tea will not be served after 4:30.

Only two more general meetings are scheduled on the club calendar, one of which will be a garden party.

The bridge winners were: Mesdames Connell, Van Wickel, Kimball, Trevor Thomas, Haines, Bartlett, Hammond and Phillippo, and Messrs. Middleton and Dr. F. B. Hudson.

The victors at Majohnn were Mrs. R. B. Nichols, Mrs. Lithin and Mr. White.

VACUUM CLEANING METHODS.

Thorough cleanliness in the home can only be secured by the operation of scientific principles in dust extraction. One of the best and most powerful machines invented for this particular purpose has been secured by us, and we have already achieved excellent results with it.

To the engine are coupled flexible tubes of great length, which are fitted with special attachments for the cleaning of carpets, draperies, furniture, pictures, walls, mouldings and crevices.

You will not credit the amount of dust extracted from the average house by this very powerful vacuum engine until you have seen the whirl of dust passing through the glass test tubes.
